

YOUR BRIDGE TO SEAMLESS EHR TRANSITIONS

Comprehensive data migration from one EHR to another typically requires a significant degree of manual data entry and human decision-making. Inaccuracies or data omissions can have serious consequences, including jeopardizing patient safety and disrupting clinical workflows. Often, providers underestimate the intricacies of mapping data fields between EHR systems and meeting the legal and regulatory requirements during the transition.

Verisma makes managing health information easier while adhering to the highest standards in data security and patient protection. Our comprehensive chart migration services encompass everything from meticulous project planning and process development to data structuring and rigorous field auditing, all aimed at ensuring a seamless transition to a new EHR system.
